The Airbus A320 family is a family of jet airliners. It only has two rows of seats, which means it is a narrow-body plane. The family is made by Airbus and it is made up of the A318, A319, A320 and A321, as well as the ACJ business jet. The A320 family is made in Toulouse, France, and Hamburg, Germany.

The A319, A320, and A321 were all updated to be NEOs, and thus their names would go on to be A319neo, A320neo, and A321neo. The A318 – affectionately given the nickname ‘baby bus’ – was never that popular to begin with. Thus Airbus never put the resources into developing a NEO variant of the tiny jet.

The A320 was the model aircraft for Airbus that pushed the company to become a household name. With more than 400 orders before the aircraft even took flight (especially compared to the earlier A300 that only had 15 orders), the A320 series would quickly become a staple product for the company.

The A320 has been, and continues to be, a major commercial success. The A318 and A319 are shorter derivatives with some of the latter under construction for the corporate business jet market as Airbus Corporate Jets. A stretched version is known as the A321. The A320 family's primary competitor is the Boeing 737 family.
